Waiting for 'Go'

The lineup was very competitive on Sunday at the Wilmington Memorial races, especially in the class for boys in grades 1 to 3. These boys were only about half the boys in the class, which was the heaviest populated class in the race. Story on page 5.

Rep race

Candidates off and running

The special election to succeed the late Fred F. Cain as Wilmington's representative has attracted four Democrats, but no Republicans.

Cain's son Robert has announced his candidacy, as has Kevin McKelvey of South Wilmington. Selectman James Miceli, who ran against Fred Cain unsuccessfully, has said that he is also a candidate. His statement of candidacy has not yet been issued. Thomas Marden of McDonald Road is also a candidate.

Kevin McKelvey in the running

Kevin B. McKelvey of Border Avenue, Wilmington, has announced his candidacy for state representative. He is seeking the Democratic nomination for the 36th Middlesex seat recently vacated by the death of Rep. Fred F. Cain.

McKelvey was recently seated as a member of Wilmington's Democratic Town Committee. He is employed as a real estate salesperson by a Reading firm.

McKelvey has completed work in a Master's degree in public administration at Suffolk University. He will receive the degree from the Beacon Hill institution in about two weeks.

While at Suffolk, he was one of 12 graduate students eligible for and accepted into Phi Alpha Alpha, the honors society for graduate students in public administration.

McKelvey is a graduate of Wilmington High School. He did his undergraduate work at Merrimack College in North Andover, where he was a dean's list student receiving a B.S. degree in Business Administration.

Unmarried, McKelvey believes he can devote full time to the business of representation, which of late has become increasingly demanding.

"The bureaucracy will not go away. One of the answers is to respect its place and know how to cope with it, work with, and get around it," McKelvey said.

McKelvey is stressing the importance of uninterrupted representation for Wilmington both now and after the redistricting.

McKelvey said that as a representative, he would work for protection of home rule, e.g. an increased voice of Wilmington's Board of Selectmen, and the Massachusetts Selectmen's Association.

He said that he would seek to foster an environment of improved intergovernmental relations, via an outward working cooperative with the district's Senator and member of Congress.

McKelvey is the son of Harold and Myrtle McKelvey of Border Avenue.

Cain seeks to succeed father

Pledging to "carry on and complete" the many projects his late father started, Robert J. Cain has announced his candidacy for the Massachusetts House of Representatives from the 36th Middlesex District. (Wilmington and Precincts 11 and 12 of Billerica).

The seat was vacated with the death, May 17 of Rep. Fred F. Cain of Wilmington, who had represented the district since 1965.

Election to fill the vacancy has been set for Tuesday, August 30, by House Speaker Thomas W. McGee (D-Lynn). The primary will be held on Tuesday, August 2.

"Everyone knows how hard my dad worked at this job," Cain said. "He wanted to get everything done, every day. He never wanted to leave a job unfinished once he had begun it. My first priority will be to carry on and complete the many programs and projects he was working on at the time of his death."

Cain, 43, is the owner of the Robert J. Cain Insurance Agency in Wilmington. Born in Taunton, he has lived in Wilmington since 1935. He is a graduate of the Wilmington public school system, and attended Dean Academy in Franklin, as well as insurance education programs at Boston University.

Cain is married to the former Harriet Smith of Reading, and is the father of three children: Robert J. Jr., 21, David, 20, and Jo Ann, 17.

"I believe I would bring two major assets to the job of State Representative," Cain said. "First, an appreciation of what the job is all about...especially the commitment to serve, first and foremost, the interests of the people of our district. That was my dad's philosophy, and it will be mine."

"And secondly, I believe my background in the private sector, as a businessman who must be concerned with providing consumer services as competitive costs, will be extremely important. Because, in a major way, the Legislature must deal every day with striving to reach this ideal."

Selectmen approve housing grant application

In a special meeting held on Saturday, the Wilmington Board of Selectmen voted to approve a Wilmington Housing Authority application for $27,000 in federal funds. The money is for preliminary study for low-cost and elderly housing.

The special meeting was called in order to meet a May 31 filing deadline for the money. Housing Authority Chairman George Hooper said that he had recently attended a convention at which an administrator for H.U.D. (Housing and Urban Development) had urged him to apply for the money.

The week between the convention and the special selectmen's meeting was a frantic one, with the Housing Authority meeting on Friday night to vote its approval of the application.

The Saturday selectmen's meeting was attended by twelve persons. Only three of the five selectmen were present, and the vote to approve the application was two to one, with Selectman John Imbimbo voting in the negative. He expressed displeasure at the hastiness of the decision.

Present and voting for the application were Chairman Aldo Caira and Selectman James Miceli.

One major concern expressed at the meeting was for the ability of the town to reject the program at some future date. Members of the Planning Board present at the meeting said that they were skeptical of accepting federal funds for such a study.

Housing Authority Chairman Hooper said that he was confident that if the town so desired, that the program could be rejected.

Senate race

Bedford Rally Monday for Michael Caira

Republicans and others interested in restoring the two party government to Massachusetts are invited to attend a rally Monday evening in behalf of Michael Caira, Republican nominee for State Senator. Mr. Caira will discuss campaign issues and other matters relating to his candidacy. GOP Chairman Gordon Nelson is to present plans for the rebuilding of the Republican party in Massachusetts, and plans for a June 21 victory in the 5th Middlesex District.

The rally is to be held in the Bedford High School cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m. The school is located on Mudge Way, off Routes 4 and 225, just east of Concord Road.

At a recent meeting the Republican State Committee has authorized a $500 contribution to the campaign committee of the Republican nominee for state senator. In other actions it has voted to hold a Republican convention in 1978 and has authorized the formation of a select committee to recruit a full slate of qualified Republican candidates for the 1978 state elections.

The state committee has gone on record to oppose the "instant voter registration" and other modifications of the electoral process proposed by the national administration. It would, in the opinion of the State Committee, undermine the integrity of the electoral system.

Train sparks chain of fires

A faulty spark arrester on a Buddliner created a busy afternoon for fire fighters in Wilmington and Billerica last Friday.

The train, traveling toward Boston, set a number of fires in Billerica and Wilmington. There were six reported in Wilmington. Locations included on Grace Drive, at Grove and Lake Streets, on Wilde Avenue, and off Nichols Street.

The first fire was reported at 12:07 p.m., and it was nearly 6 p.m. before the last one was declared out.

Four Beagles now illegal

Wilmington residents who keep more than three dogs are now breaking a law.

Town Clerk Esther Russell has posted two new laws that were voted in the Annual Town Meeting in March. The laws, voted in as Articles 18 and 27, are now in effect.

Article 18 restricts to three the number of dogs that a resident may keep. Article 27 modifies the town's zoning bylaw to conform with Chapter 808 of the Massachusetts General Laws.

Pedestrian hurt on holiday

Wilmington's Memorial Day weekend was quiet and safe, for the most part. The only accident worthy of note was one involving a pedestrian.

Eighteen-year-old Diane Healy of Wakefield suffered a compound fracture of the right leg on Monday afternoon, when she was hit by a car driven by Leigh Webster of 10 Main St., Wilmington.

The Healy girl was taken to Choate Memorial Hospital in Weoburn. She had been a guest at the Scaramo home at the time of the accident, which occurred about 2:30 p.m.

Weaver offers debate challenge

Parker Weaver of Lexington, American Party candidate for State Senator has offered a challenge to his Republican and Democratic opponents, to meet in a face-to-face combat.

The issues are being glossed over, he says, with trite cliches and pro-forma campaign speeches. If this is what the electorate must endure for the next three weeks then the election process will have failed, no matter who wins, Weaver states.

He hopes to have a face-to-face meeting, if possible in each of the nine towns in the present 5th Middlesex District. In this way, he hopes, the electorate, by election time, will be well informed.

Carol Amick reception

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McKie, 318 Woburn Street, is to be the locale for a reception for Carol Amick, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Amick is the Democratic candidate for the Massachusetts Senate. The reception, open to the public, will be between 3 and 6 p.m.

Eric Wood to Boy's State

Eric Wood, a junior at Wilmington High School, will represent Wilmington as Boy's State Representative in June at Assumption College in Worcester.

Sponsored by the American Legion, Boys' State was founded and designed to supplement the information which the boys acquire in their high school courses.

The purpose of the program is to educate its citizens in the rights, responsibilities and duty of American citizenship.

At the conference Eric will have an opportunity to meet students from cities and towns throughout the state. These meetings can create permanent friendships for all participants. Some of the activities include, election and appointment of officials in a typical town, followed by a discussion of budgets and town affairs, election of key state government officers, and finally the discussion and enactment of laws and pertinent legislation.

The selection of the youth is decided by two criteria: scholastic ability and extra school activities. Wood has the best overall qualifications as judged by the selection committee. Eric is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurier A. Wood of 321 Salem St., Wilmington.

There is a movement afoot among track fans in Wilmington to honor W.H.S. Track Coach Frank Kelley with a dinner on June 18 at the new Sons of Italy Hall. Tickets for the dinner are still available. The telephone numbers for information are 658-3651 and 658-4525.

Walter's award

Walter Kaminski recently received a Girl Scouting award, for three years of patience. The award was presented to him by his wife Evelyn on her final night as Baldwin Neighborhood Chairman of Girl Scouts. The occasion was marked with a dinner at the West Intermediate School. Taking over the duties of neighborhood chairman is Carolyn Simons, at left. Cindy Williams, former neighborhood chairman is at right. The term "neighborhood" chairman sounds simple, but isn't. The chairman is (only!) in charge of three towns.

Harrison wins third varsity hockey letter

John Harrison

John Harrison, a sophomore from Wilmington has won his third varsity letter in hockey at the U.S. Military Academy during the 1976-77

winter season.

Appearing in 29 games for the Cadets, Harrison ranked third in scoring with 25 goals and 42 assists, his best performance to date. His efforts helped Coach Jack Riley's skaters to compile a 22-4-1 record and gain the semifinals of the Eastern College Athletic Conference Division
II Tournament. The 22 victories represents an Academy record for season triumphs, eclipsing the old mark of 20.

In three years of varsity competition, Harrison has accounted for 35 goals and 70 assists playing both the center and wing positions. He has one year of eligibility remaining.

A graduate of Wilmington
High School, Harrison won four letters in hockey, two letters in baseball and one in soccer while there. He also served as captain of the hockey and baseball teams.

He is the son of Mr. and
Mrs. Edward Harrison of Pil-

LETTER

Memorial Day, 1977
Citizens of Tewksbury:

I submit to you the following: The Mahoney murder trial is a cruel farce! I say this because I believe no real justice can be done to the killers or in the name of their innocent victims. Without the death penalty in our state there is no possibility of a fitting punishment being handed out to these cruel men.

I further submit that the only punishment allowed by our present laws amounts to a slap on the hand for these criminals and is actually a cruel and barbaric burden on the friends and loved ones of Dr. Mahoney, his wife Ruth and their son John. We - you and I and the Mahoney daughters will be forced to pay for the clothing, feeding, housing, warming in the winter, and cooling in the summer of the killers of these neighbors of yours as long as they are in jail! I, for one, say no!

I will not let my state tax dollars go to this purpose! I will pay no further state income taxes as long as there is no death penalty in our state! I am begging you people of Tewksbury, you neighbors of the Mahoneys, to stand up and let the politicians of this state know that this travesty of no capital punishment must end! I beg you to let the word go out loud and clear that the Town of Tewksbury, in the name of your murdered neighbors, is going to see to it that killers are henceforth going to pay for their crimes in the only fitting way possible! I urge as many of you as possible to contact your senator and representative and our governor to register your determination in this regard. Threaten them with a withholding of your tax dollars until this wrong is righted! (That's what politicians will listen to, that's the language they understand!)

If there had been a death penalty law on the books of our state on that New Year's Eve a year and a half ago, it is quite possible that these four men from New Hampshire would not have felt quite as ready, willing, and aboe to cross into our state armed with their weapons of death!

Sincerely,
Robert McLellan
Boston, Mass.
(I'm just a 35-year-old school bus driver who has been sickened by this horrible crime and by the lack of justice inherent in our present judicial system.)

A Wilmington black man at Bunker Hill

It was just about two hundred and fifty years ago that Samuel Dummer first came to what is now a part of Wilmington. The occasion is recalled because Rosalind, the wife of Jimmy Carter spent Monday on a sugar plantation in Jamaica. Samuel Dummer had owned a sugar plantation in that country.

He sold his plantation about 1726-1727 and moved north, with his possessions and his slaves, to the Colony of Massachusetts Bay. Samuel Dummer had good reason to move to that colony, for his brother William Dummer was the Governor of the colony. The title, in that day and age, was His Majesty's Lieutenant Governor.

William Dummer, Esq. The man for whom Dummer Academy in Essex County is named. His brother Samuel was likewise an attorney, and bore the honorific of Esquire.

Samuel arrived with his furniture, his money from the plantation, and his slaves. Undoubtedly he lived with his brother in Boston for a period, while he decided where he was going to live.

His eye was attracted to a bit of wilderness in Middlesex County, beyond the town of Woburn, and more or less under the domain of Charlestown. It was called The Land of Nod.

The Land of Nod - land that had reverted to Charlestown when the Town of Woburn was set aside. It was not directly under the control of a church or a clergyman, and hence the name. Today it is that part of Wilmington which is north of Salem Street, approximately, and east of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

Further south was another Biblical name - a part of Woburn, known as The Land of Goshen. The Land of Goshen was from the site of the Whitefield School (approximately) to the West Intermediate, or Shawsheen School.

Dummer bought three hundred acres - Lot One of the Land of Nod. His purchase included a mill and a mill pond - Nod Mill. The site can still be seen, on Martins Brook. That mill, on that bank, lasted for three hundred years, before it was finally burned to the ground.

Dummer had a house built on the land he had purchased. Just where that house was located is a question, but the land today is owned by the Choate Memorial Hospital of Woburn. It is to be a part of the proposed Regional Health Center in Wilmington. One legend puts the site as being one hundred yards northeasterly of the site of the Harnden Tavern.

Dummer, being a brother of the Governor, soon became the Sheriff of Middlesex County. He was a man of means - a man of influence.

There was a Mrs. Dummer, and there was a child. There were several slaves - presumably black slaves. Dummer lived in style.

At about the time of his arrival the farmers of the region had been agitating for a church of their own - a town of their own. They had not been successful. Finally, in 1730, land was set aside from Woburn and from Reading, and the Town of Wilmington was set aside. The deed was accomplished.

Governor Dummer was, of course, a friend of King George, the new King George. That was George II, the son of George I, the Hanoverian. George II, unlike his dad, could speak English, which is perhaps a strange way to define an English king.

George II had a friend - a dissolute person who was the Earl of Wilmington.

If you wanted to study the affection of the king, in 1730, you did something for the Earl of Wilmington.

Within a few years there were three places in the colonies that were named Wilmington - and one of them was in the Colony of Massachusetts Bay. None of the three towns can be proud of the origin of their name.

Samuel Dummer, the richest man in town, was named the first Moderator of Wilmington. It became his duty to call the first Town Meeting, which occurred in a little school house which stood near where Main Street and Butters Row meet today.

And, when the church was built, there was a special pew for Samuel Dummer, Esquire, one above all the others, and equal in rank to that of the minister.

Samuel Dummer, Esquire, was quite a man, for those days. It all depends, of course, on how one defines the word man.

Samuel did not live long. He died, at the age of 48, on February 6 in 1738. His will is to be read, in the Middlesex County records, and it records some of the furniture which he had brought from Jamaica. His wife and child did not long survive him. Possibly he died of small pox.

The house disappeared. It would be something to find the original site - somewhere northeast of the Harnden Tavern.

The name Dummer disappeared. His was the only family of that name in Middlesex County.

The slaves - the black men that he brought up from Jamaica. There is no record - but one can guess.

Thirty-five years after his death there were slaves in North Wilmington, belonging to a family which lived on Andover Street. One of them was named Titus Cober. His master was a carpenter. His master built the home that is now the Harnden Tavern.

Did slave labor help to build the Harnden Tavern?

There is no way to know. Titus Cober was one of the black men who were freed by the people of Wilmington with the advent of the Revolution.

The name of Peter Salm is well known in American History. Peter was the black man who killed Major Prescott of Lexington fame, at the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Peter Salm was not the only black man to fight at Bunker Hill.

One of the men from Wilmington who took part in that battle was a free man - a black man - named Titus Cober.

Was Titus Cober, the black man, the ex-slave, a son of those black people who presumably were brought up from Jamaica prior to 1730, as the slaves of Samuel Dummer, Esquire?

(Acknowledgement is made of the studies of William Meyer, Wilmington Minute Man and historian, who has been engaged in a study of the Military History of Wilmington. It was Mr. Meyer who found that Titus Cober had fought for Wilmington, at Bunker Hill.)

Cause for Concern

Tom Fitzgerald ran in the marathon in spite of a breathing problem. He finished the race, but afterwards he was in pain from the exercise. He experienced a similar difficulty last year, when he lagged behind all the runners. This year, he finished last again, but managed to keep up with the pack. With him are Recreation Director Ron Swasey, and his parents, Tom and Ethel Fitzgerald. His brother Scot has the best seat in the house, sitting atop the shoulders of Floyd Barnaby.

Installed recently

In ceremonies held recently in the Masonic Temple in Wilmington, leaders of the Wilmington Rainbow Girls were installed.

On parade

Wilmington was the scene of an impressive Memorial Day parade on Monday. Above, the locomotive of the popular Aleppo Clowns, from the Aleppo Shrine, recently moved to Wilmington. At right, Traffic Supervisor Pat Gately made her final appearance in the annual parade. She is giving up her job this year to devote more time to her secretarial job.

Politics in parade

"Memorial Day is set aside for the heroic war dead. We can't have a political rally made out of it."

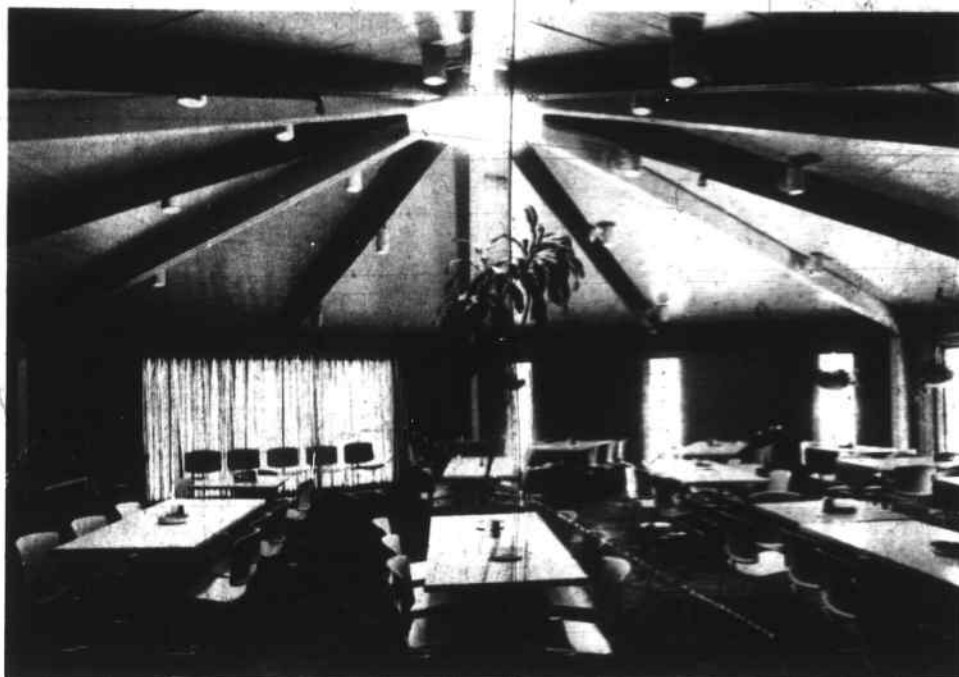

John Winters was quite upset about one aspect of Monday's Memorial Day parade in Wilmington. There was a car in the parade bearing political signs promoting the candidacy of a man running for representative.

Winters, the Parade Marshall, said he knew nothing of the car until he saw it pass Wildwood Cemetery. He said that it had not been among the cars that he saw at Wilmington Plaza, the starting point of the parade.

Winters said that he was expressing his apologies to the town and to anyone who might have been offended by the appearance of such a car in the parade.

Robert Cain, whose candidacy the car was promoting, has also extended his apologies for any misunderstanding caused by the car. He did say that the car was not taken into the cemetery or included in any of the memorial services.

New cafeteria building at Analog Devices

A new 2500 square foot cafeteria, attractively comprised of two hexagonal, prefabricated steel structures, is now ready for use by the more than 300 employees of Analog Devices Semiconductor, 829 Woburn St., Wilmington. The division, which also includes 100 people in Wakefield, produces integrated circuits used in instruments for medical care, aircraft control, industrial automation and scientific analyses.

Under construction since November, with completion delayed by the severe winter, this new cafeteria will free room, formerly occupied by a smaller cafeteria, for additional office space. Analog Devices Semiconductor has grown in Wilmington from 12,000 square feet in 1969 to 40,000 square feet today. The Wakefield plant, occupied last fall, is 32,000 square feet.

Dr. Robert Pepper, division general manager, pointed out that this division is the "fastest growing within Analog Devices, and was responsible for almost one half of the company's $40 million of worldwide sales last year. Our expansion into Wakefield last year, and the addition of a cafeteria here, are indicative of the continued success of the division and our desire to continue to grow and prosper in these communities." he said.

Learn about Scouts

The Tewksbury Lions learned about Scouting recently from a pair of experts - Scoutmaster Richard James of Grasshopper Lane and his son Eagle Scout Duane James. Both are members of Troop 322, affiliated with the Tewksbury Wilmington Elks.

Mooney's Orchestra to play for police show

Art Mooney and his orchestra, will play for the police association's "Man in Blue" variety show which will be held at the Wilmington High School auditorium, Saturday, June 11 at 8 p.m.

Mooney, one of the top leaders in the era of the "Big Bands" had the distinction of being the only band leader having five Gold Records to his credit. While some big bands dissolved in the fifties and sixties, the Mooney band continued and last year did a whirlwind 84-day tour reliving the era of the big bands, usually playing to sellout crowds. Tickets for the show may be obtained from members of the Police Association.

Police postpone ball

The Tewksbury Police Association has announced that its annual ball has been postponed until autumn, with the date to be announced. The original June 10 date was in conflict with too many other activities.

The new football field

The Tewksbury football team has a brand new field, just completed this week. It occupies the site of the old one, behind the Center School on Pleasant Street. There is 82,000 square feet of new sod, on a new base, with adequate drainage, sprinklers, and new bleachers. Fred Andella and Pete Peters are shown leveling off one of the sprinkler heads.

Scholarship for Steve Coursey

A 1977 Root-Tilden Scholarship at the New York University School of Law has been awarded to Steven Coursey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Coursey of Frederick Drive, Wilmington.

Root-Tilden scholarships cover full costs of tuition for a year and recipients are entitled to a full participation in the Root-Tilden Program, which includes a summer internship following the first year of law school. The names in the scholarship are for two distinguished graduates of New York University School of Law, Samuel J. Tilden, prosecutor of the notorious Tweed ring, in 1871, and a man who missed election to the presidency of the United States by one electoral vote in the hotly disputed election of 1876, and Elihu Root, a leading member of the bar who served as Secretary of War under President McKinley and as Secretary of State under Theodore Roosevelt. In 1912 he received the Nobel Peace Prize for his contributions to international law.

Coursey is a 1977 graduate of Bates College, where he was class president and senior advisor to the Campus Association. He served as an intern for Senator Edmund Muskie, and in his undergraduate years he was administrator and head counselor of a summer program for economically disadvantaged youth.

Airmen from Hanscom Field

Airmen stationed at Hanscom Field did a lot of marching, Monday. They appeared in parades in a number of communities.

One particular group, two women and four men, shown here in Tewksbury in the afternoon, was in Wilmington in the morning, and perhaps some other place at another time.

Maida Eisenberg, president, League of Women Voters

Maida Eisenberg of Salem St., North Wilmington was elected president of the Wilmington League of Women Voters, at its last meeting. Mrs. Eisenberg, a resident of Wilmington for two and one half years, has been very active in the League and has served in a number of capacities.

Barbara Sullivan, past president and one of the founders of the Wilmington league was named vice-president. Other new officers are Patricia Roadn, secretary and Barbara Welton, treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors include: Holly Heine, Peggy Kane, Sally Wild, Joan Sadowski and Joyce Rogers.

The league's study program for the coming year includes local, state and national items. On the local level the Wilmington League will be studying Human Service needs in the community, and evaluating the existing services to see how they can be coordinated and enhanced. A study of criteria for determining the location for the proposed Route 129 improvement is also on the agenda.

On the state level the Wilmington League will be joining with other local leagues in an examination of the Fiscal Policy of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Members of the Wilmington League will be taking a close look at the Urban Crisis, the Energy Problem, and the United Nations Today, under the National Study Program.

The League is looking forward to an exciting year of participation in, and service to the community through study, voter services and other activities, according to Mrs. Eisenberg. The League invites anyone interested in these activities to become a member of the League.

Open house at T.J.S.

An open house held recently at Tewksbury Junior High School was the first hosted exclusively by the Social Studies Department. Parents who responded to invitations were able to acquaint themselves with courses their children study by observing and participating in displays, demonstrations and activities planned by the instructors of the various social studies subjects in the three grade levels.

Seventh grade Geography featured the use of stereoscopes and stereograms in the acquisition of map skills. Of special interest was the department's collection of 2 x 2 slices of the Town of Tewksbury which is used in teaching geographic concepts.

Several of the parents were able to contribute to the discussion of the Town's history with personal recollections which the local views brought to mind. Also on display were textbooks and games used in teaching basic geographic vocabulary.

The American Studies teachers of the eighth grade examined with parents the multi-media approach to their subject, showing and explaining audiotapes, videotapes, slides, filmstrips, 16mm movies and a collection of project materials. Students in the eighth grade core classes sponsored an international bazaar.

Parents were able to examine texts and supplementary materials and observe demonstrations of the techniques which instructors use in developing skills and objectives of the eighth grade program.

Parents of students taking World History in the ninth grade took part in a model lesson which demonstrated the inquiry method of instruction.

Students in Civics classes performed an historical pageant which linked the nation's history with Tewksbury's own.

Illustrating the theme "Tewksbury, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," the pageant was so well received that it will be repeated at a school assembly some time in the near future.

Qualify for Tourney

WHS girls MVC co-champs

Last week the Wilmington High School girls softball team chalked up the MVC co-championship and a spot in the Eastern Mass. Tourney with wins over Billerica, Methuen, and Dracut. The Wildcat girls will share the top spot in the conference with Chelmsford as both teams finished with 12-2 records. Wilmington outscored its opponents in 1977 by a solid 108-62 margin.

The team begins tournament play tomorrow (June 2) with a 3:30 p.m. game against Matignon at Wilmington Town Park.

The girls' path to the tourney berth went this way:

Friday, May 20 - Wildcats 5, Billerica 0....Wilmington coasted by the Indians in a makeup game at Billerica. Captain Sheila Burns enjoyed a banner day at the plate with a home run and three RBI's. Barb Moulton was the other Wilmington offensive star while catcher Laurie Hastings unleashed perfect throws to slow down the Indian attack.

Tuesday, May 24 - Wildcats 8, Methuen 2....The girls toppled the Rangers in a game they had to win in order to qualify for the state tournament. Bunts keyed the attack at Methuen as Joan Welch (4-4), Laurie Hastings (3-3) and Barb Moulton (3-4) led the way. Pitcher Betty Cote turned in a stellar effort with three strikeouts for the winners. Cote fielded soundly to help her own cause as she scooped three Ranger bunts.

Thursday, May 26 - Wildcats 5, Dracut 0....Wilmington rebounded from an earlier 8-6 setback at the hands of the Middle girls. The MVC co-title was riding on this game as the Chelmsford Lions were battling Tewksbury. If Wilmington lost at Dracut the Lions would win the title outright thanks to their 6-4 comeback win against the Redmen.

WHS held on to win behind the hitting of Joan Welch (a home run and a sacrifice bunt) Barb Moulton, and Coleen Dowd. Pitcher Betty Cote fanned four Middies to move her strikeout total to 46 over the course of this highly successful WHS softball season. Betty walked only 19 batters this year to average just 1.32 walks per game.
